DECEMBER 2017

MESSAGE OF ASSOCIATE DEANS OF DIVERSITY

7th
NEWSLETTER
EDITION

Dr. Linnie Golightly Dr. Rache Simmons

Greetings!

We are delighted to report that Dean Augustine Choi has announced the "Dean's Diversity and Healthcare Disparities Research Awards". Please see page 8 for details. We encourage all faculty, trainees and students to consider applying!

In November, our office hosted WCM's first Breaking Bread Dinner to provide a safe space for students, faculty, residents, fellows and staff to share their thoughts on diversity. Dr. Renee Alexander (Dean of Students, Cornell University), who originated the concept at Cornell U., joined with us for the event! We would like to thank everyone for coming and we look forward to seeing those of you who didn't make it at the next event.

In addition, our office and the Office of Student Diversity hosted a "Meet and Greet" welcoming Dr. Sherilynn Black (Associate Vice Provost for Faculty Development, Duke University). For 7 years, Dr. Black has worked in fostering an inclusive and diverse environment for graduate students of all backgrounds in the basic sciences. We were excited to have her on campus!

We hope to see everyone at the Diversity Holiday Mixer on December 11th. Please note that Dr. Joseph L. Wright, Professor and Chair of Pediatrics at Howard University Medical College will be attending, and giving Pediatric Grand Rounds on December 12th (please see below for details).

We wish everyone a joyous holiday season!

Kind Regards,

MEET AND GREET WITH DR. SHERILYNN BLACK

Students, faculty, and staff welcomed and met with Dr. Sherilynn Black, Associate Vice Provost for Faculty Development at Duke University. Dr. Black spoke extensively about the challenges minority students encounter, such as finding suitable mentors to help them navigate the basic sciences. She discussed some of the strategies that she has developed and offered at Duke's Office of Biomedical Graduate Diversity to help support minority students and train their mentors as well as feel a part of a community.

DEVELOPING A CLIMATE THAT SUPPORTS DIVERSITY IN SCIENCE AND MEDICINE

The Office of Student Diversity hosted Dr. Sherilynn Black's lecture, "Developing A Climate that Supports Diversity in Science and Medicine." Dr. Black elaborated on the history and development of the Office of Biomedical Graduate Diversity since her appointment as Director. As she began her position, she realized that there was a mismatch in what graduate trainees valued and what the biomedical environment offered. With support from Duke, she established an administrative unit and received institutional funding to foster an inclusive and diverse environment for trainees of all backgrounds. Over the years, Dr. Black has established programs and practices within her office such as the Postdoctoral Associate Program, and the Institutional Partnership Program consisting of 18 institutions (NC State, Hunter College, Harvard, University of Puerto Rico, Virginia Tech, and more). These programs have provided opportunities for the acquisition of administrative and grant writing skills, the establishment of external research collaborations, and the development of summer enrichment programs. Dr. Black has also work extensively in increasing faculty and administrative mentoring and engagement by providing training and professional development opportunities for mentors. In her new position, as Associate Vice Provost of Faculty Development, she plans to use these previous strategies to enhance diverse faculty.

BREAKING BREAD DINNER

On November 20th, our first WCM Breaking Bread Dinner was well attended by students, faculty, and staff and a great success. Everyone was welcomed and encouraged to share their thoughts on diversity in a safe environment. The dinner dialogue was co-facilitated by Dr. Linnie Golightly (Associate Dean of Diversity and Inclusion) and Dr. Renee Alexander (Dean of Students, Cornell University), who developed and won an award for initiating the Breaking Bread Dinner series on Cornell's Ithaca campus. We appreciate everyone's willingness to share and candor. Please send ideas or suggestions for future Breaking Bread Dinners to Angelica Patterson, anp2881@med.cornell.edu or Fatima Dombia, fad2011@med.cornell.edu.

Happy Holidays

ALEXENDAR PEREZ, MD/PHD STUDENT NAMED 30 UNDER 30 FORBES

Alexendar Perez, MD/PHD student was recently named as one of the 30 Under 30 Forbes honorees as one of the 30 Under 30 Forbes honorees in Science. Congratulations, Mr. Perez!

GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Dean's Diversity and Healthcare Disparities Awards Due January 31, 2018

THESE ARE LIMITED SUBMISSIONS: 2-4 awards per category

Applications due: January 31, 2018 at 11:59pm to nag2020@med.cornell.edu

Program Summary:

Dean Augustine M.K. Choi is pleased to announce the establishment of the Dean's Diversity and Healthcare Disparity Research Awards. The awards will support excellence in research to improve the health of underrepresented minorities and/or reduce health disparities in healthcare systems and in clinical settings, either locally or globally. Research into improving the diversity and gender balance of the biomedical workforce will also be supported, as lack of a representative workforce can be linked to health disparities.

The awards are designed to further Weill Cornell Medicine's goal of becoming a national leader in advancing diversity and inclusion within academic medicine. We seek proposals for basic, translational, clinical, informatics, or outcomes research that addresses health disparity areas including, but not limited to: race and ethnicity, gender and gender identity, socioeconomic status, access to healthcare, differing standards of healthcare, insurance status, age, geography, sexual orientation, and cultural beliefs. Underrepresented minorities are encouraged to apply.

The Dean's Diversity and Healthcare Disparity Research Awards will provide funding for one year and will be available at four levels:

- ▶ Faculty (4 awards) - $50,000 each
- ▶ Fellows and Postdoctoral Associates (2 awards) - $25,000 each
- ▶ Residents (4 awards) - $10,000 each
- ▶ Medical and Graduate Students (2 awards) - $5,000 each (to be used for Area of Concentration Scholarly Project or Graduate Research Project)

Eligibility Criteria

Applicants must:

- ▶ Be full-time faculty, fellows, postdoctoral associates, medical students, or graduate students at Weill Cornell Medicine, or full-time residents or fellows at NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medical Center. Trainees should have a qualified mentor and mentoring plan.
- ▶ Have a well-developed feasible, significant, and innovative research plan focused on diversity, diseases that disproportionately affect diverse communities, or the reduction of health disparities.
- ▶ Anticipate completion of their projects while based at Weill Cornell Medicine.

Awardees will be invited to present their research projects during Weill Cornell Medicine's Diversity Week, which will take place April 23-27, 2018.

Announcement of award recipients will be made in the late winter/early spring of 2018.

Questions: For further information, please contact Angelica Patterson (anp2281@med.cornell.edu), Research Coordinator.

2018 Summer Medical Student Research Fellowship Program Due January 8, 2018

A ten-week National Cancer Institute (NCI) sponsored research program open to first- or second-year students (at US medical schools) with a career interest in the field of oncology and/or related biomedical sciences. The NCI R25 program grant encourages the participation of students from groups under-represented in medicine and biomedical research. Additional funding provided by MSK's Graduate Medical Education Office and the Office of Diversity Programs in Clinical Care, Research, and Training.

Participants will:

- ▶ Gain clinical, translational, or laboratory research experience
- ▶ Interact with MSK physicians, PhD investigators, postdoctoral fellows and graduate students
- ▶ Attend a weekly lecture series presented by world-renowned MSK faculty
- ▶ Present their summer research to fellowship peers and MSK faculty during the final week of the program
- ▶ Participants receive a $5800 stipend for participation in the program

2018 PROGRAM DATES

A) June 4 – August 10, 2018

OR

B) June 11 - August 17, 2018

*Subject to sponsor's approval, students may attend either block.

STIPEND & HOUSING

$5,800 stipend for uninterrupted participation (start and end dates inclusive). Housing is not provided. A list of housing resources will be made available to accepted students.
