Greetings,

Happy Women's History Month! We recognize and celebrate all women of diverse backgrounds in our community as well as, our mothers, daughters, and sisters.

Please note in faculty publications, our own Dean Augustine Choi's article "A Threat to Immigration, A Threat to Care" published in AAMC News that discusses show stricter immigrations controls and removal of DACA will affect healthcare.

And as we go to press the inaugural 2018 Cornell Tri-Campus Health Equity Symposium (March 15-16) is beginning. The keynote speaker, Dr. David Satcher, Founding Director and Senior Advisor of the Satcher Health Leadership Institute of Community Health and Preventive Medicine at Morehouse School of Medicine will present regarding "The Elements of Leadership and Quest for Health Equity".

In addition, Dr. Romulo Hurtado, who was recently promoted to Assistant Professor of Cell and Developmental Biology Research in Surgery, as well as awarded an NIH R21 grant, will be presenting at the Research Faculty Dinner on March 21st. We invite all faculty interested in research careers to attend for an evening of science and fellowship.

And note that due to feedback regarding the date, the 2018 Leadership Training that was scheduled for March 17 is postponed. A new date is pending. Please do continue to provide us with your recommendations-our community is only as strong as our participation in and we truly appreciate all of your suggestions.

Finally, our first annual Diversity Week, April 23-28 is almost here! A full program will be distributed soon.

Kind Regards,
Join us at the 2018 Cornell Tri-Campus Health Equity Symposium

Belfer Research Building, Room 302-C/D

Dr. Ahna R. Skop, Ph.D., D.Sc.
Professor of Genetics
Affiliate Faculty, Department of Life Sciences Communication
Affiliate Faculty, UW-Madison Art Institute

Have you ever wondered what it is like to grow up in a family of artists and then end up a scientist? What does thinking like an artist offer the scientist? Can the blending of art and science encourage a more diverse population of students to pursue science, and improve the public understanding of science? Dr. Skop will give you an exciting glimpse into her life and how she has impacted science, education and the public with her two passions: science and art.

On February 28th, the medical students of Weill Cornell Medicine stood in solidarity with the students of the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School and the community of Parkland, Florida. “In medicine, we aim to eliminate the risk factors that are detrimental to the health of our patients. Gun access is one such risk factor that is modifiable and guaranteed to save lives,” said Barbara Elena Sahagún, Class of 2020. André Belarmino (holding the banner, on the left) Class of 2019, is an alumnus of Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School—one of his cousins is a current student who survived the attack.
On February 28th, our second WCM Breaking Bread Dinner was held and well attended by students, faculty, administrators and staff. Everyone was welcomed and encouraged to share their thoughts on diversity in a safe environment. The dinner dialogue was co-facilitated by Dr. Linnie Golightly (Associate Dean of Diversity) and Dr. Renee Alexander (Associate Dean of Students and Director of Intercultural Programs, Cornell University), who developed and won an award for initiating the Breaking Bread Dinner series on Cornell's Ithaca campus. We appreciate everyone's willingness to share and candor. Please send ideas or suggestions for future Breaking Bread Dinners to Fatima Doumbia, fad2011@med.cornell.edu.

Dean Augustine Choi, the immigrant son of an immigrant physician reveals how stricter immigration controls and rescinding DACA will harm all patients, medical education, and biomedical research in the United States.

FACULTY, STUDENT, AND RESIDENT SPOTLIGHT

DR. TIMOTHY TIUTAN
PRESENTING AT SOCIETY OF GENERAL INTERNAL MEDICINE NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Dr. Tiutan will be presenting his abstract “Utilizing the electronic medical record to assess lesbian, gay, bisexual (LGB) patients’ disease burden and health maintenance at an academic medical center’s primary care network” at the Society of General Internal Medicine National Annual Conference in April 2018. He will present LGBT health data (specifically on diabetes, HTN and cancer screenings) collected from WCM’s outpatient electronic medical records system. On behalf of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion, congratulations!!

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR ROMULO HURTADO RECEIVES NIH GRANT

Recently, Dr. Romulo Hurtado received an NIH R21 entitled, "Live imaging analyses of the mechanisms required for coordinated urinary tract peristalsis in lower-order and higher-order mammalian species" from the National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases. On behalf of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion, congratulations!!
Herbert W. Nickens Award
Due April 6, 2018

The Herbert W. Nickens Award is given to an individual who has made outstanding contributions to promoting justice in medical education and health care equity in the United States. Dr. Herbert W. Nickens was the founding vice president of the AAMC Division of Community and Minority Programs, now Diversity Policy and Programs. Dr. Nickens’ passionate leadership contributed greatly to focusing national attention on the need to support underrepresented racial and ethnic minorities in medicine. The awardee receives the Nickens Award and a $10,000 prize. The awardee also presents the Nickens Lecture at Learn Serve Lead 2018 in Austin.
